

I am sickened by the frequent news reports of the violent crimes and sexual crimes now being committed by young children. There are studies that link the portrayal of these things on television to the behavior of children. I believe it and wish we had a cleaner, more wholesome broadcasting. Children, and for that matter, adults, are affected by what they watch on television.